

Campogalliano, Italy - March 27th, 2018

Huddle Room Technology, the provider of revolutionary, cross-platform, device to device Wireless Presentation solutions is proud to announce a distribution agreement with Comil, a leading provider of technology products and solutions in France.

This new relationship will expedite HRT commercial penetration and brand establishment in France.

Teaming with HRT gives COMIL partners access to a groundbreaking solution leveraging emerging trends impacting the AV Industry such as BYOD and Workplace Transformation.

“Comil” - says Stefano Spattini, CEO of Huddle Room Technology – “has repeatedly proven their unbeatable flair for seizing the “next technology” in the AV and Unified Collaboration markets and we count on their superior ability to evangelize a broad reseller community bound to them over decades of fruitful business relationships. We understand the effort and the challenge required to launch a disruptive new and we believe Comil has the reputation and the resources required to create a dominant position for HRT in the competitive French market.

Patrice Bernard, owner of Comil, comments: “Huddle Hub One is an incredible innovation for sharing, easy and friendly to use. It will be the disrupt product of the year, in the area of wireless Data/Video collaboration.”

According to a recently published WR survey on hundreds of customer organizations, 36% of meetings happening in small rooms in 2018 will be based on a SW client and applications running on personal devices, we believe that HRT Huddle Hub One represents an unparalleled resource to support that scenario shaping the best possible experience for both local participants and remote parties connected over any UC SW platform.

Our aim at HRT is to enable small groups of coworkers to carry out the fundamental collaboration tasks namely presentation and video-conferencing, leveraging resources embedded in their own devices, in a transformed workplace, now including open spaces, huddle rooms and social hubs.

About HRT

The mission of HRT is to deliver technological solutions that create the most comfortable and effective experience for wireless presentation and video communication in huddle rooms. With this goal in mind, HRT conceived Huddle Hub One, the first product designed to supplement the current AV technologies in order to enhance the user experience. Huddle Hub One brings huddle room collaboration to an unprecedented level of comfort, effectiveness and flexibility.
